

Triangle Privacy Policy

Triangle values your privacy. We will never sell, rent or distribute your email address or other personal information to another individual or organization. The information collected is used solely for the purpose of responding to your inquiry, servicing your account and improving your website experience.

Triangle collects personally identifiable information that you volunteer (such as your name, e-mail address, mailing address, etc.) to respond to your web-initiated inquiry. Additionally, we may use your email address to conduct customer service surveys and send company announcements and newsletters. You are given the opportunity to opt out on every email.

Triangle automatically collects your IP and referring website addresses, browser type, domain name and website access times. This information is used to assist us in providing a better web experience. This information is not personally identifiable and we do not combine it with personally identifiable information.

We will periodically review and update this Privacy Policy as necessary to protect our users and to comply with a changing environment. We recommend that you check the Privacy Policy when you visit our site to be sure that you are aware of and understand our current policy.

This Privacy Policy was last updated on January 31, 2011.
